

The Cooloola Coast is a perfect place for shorebirds. At low tide there are extensive sandbanks where the birds can search for food and at high tide there are secluded places where they can roost and rest without disturbance. Sea birds (gulls and terns) dive for fish out at sea and then roost on sandbanks with the shorebirds.

Text & Compilation – COOLOOLA NATURE
D. J. Pashniak

Technical Assistance – Matthew Nielsen
Glen Craig

Cover Photography by - D.J. Pashniak

Shorebirds and Seabirds of the Cooloola Coast

*Cooloola Cove
Rainbow Beach
Tin Can Bay*

Habitat for Birds

Enjoy it
with Us